

detects part when other isn't in front

This is a system that can detect when a door has been opened. It is being created as many of these are typically expensive and everyone can use it. Families, children, companies, and much more.

With 10
100%
100%